

About Me

Robert Danny Lattas
Attorney & Counselor at Law

Degrees

I am a member of the State Bar of Illinois and I am an active member in good standing with no record of discipline.

I earned my law degree at Indiana University School of Law in Bloomington and my Master's in Accounting, specializing in tax, from the Kelley School of Business, a top tier graduate program. I received my Bachelor of Science in Commerce focusing in Accounting from DePaul University in Chicago.

Academia

I am currently an adjunct professor in the College of Commerce at DePaul University in Chicago, Illinois. Prior to this, I was an adjunct professor of accountancy and business law at Nova Southeastern University Furquar Center for Undergraduate Studies and Wayne Huizenga Graduate School of Entrepreneurship. I have also taught at Moraine Valley Community College where I taught young, budding minds the importance of acquiring value-added business skills.

Classes Taught

- Business Law
- Legal Ethics
- Corporate & Partnership Taxation
- Financial Statement Analysis
- Advanced Financial Accounting
- Managerial/Cost Accounting
- International Business
- Corporate Finance
- Strategic Management
- Principles of Management
- Tax Policy
- Real Estate Taxation
- Management Information Systems

Expectations

I strongly believe that everyone should be able to obtain an initial consultation with an attorney at no cost. To that end, I am happy to arrange a telephone conversation or meeting with you in person to discuss your concern. The initial consultation is the process where you provide me with all the relevant information pertaining to your issue, followed by a discussion of what options are available to you and how to proceed.

Know this: I will zealously advocate on your behalf. If I don't think I could help you, I will tell you so from the beginning. I uphold the strongest moral and ethical standards as every lawyer should. I will work hard and provide you with the best legal advice and work possible. Simple as that.